Students revolve around education; education revolves around East Central High School.

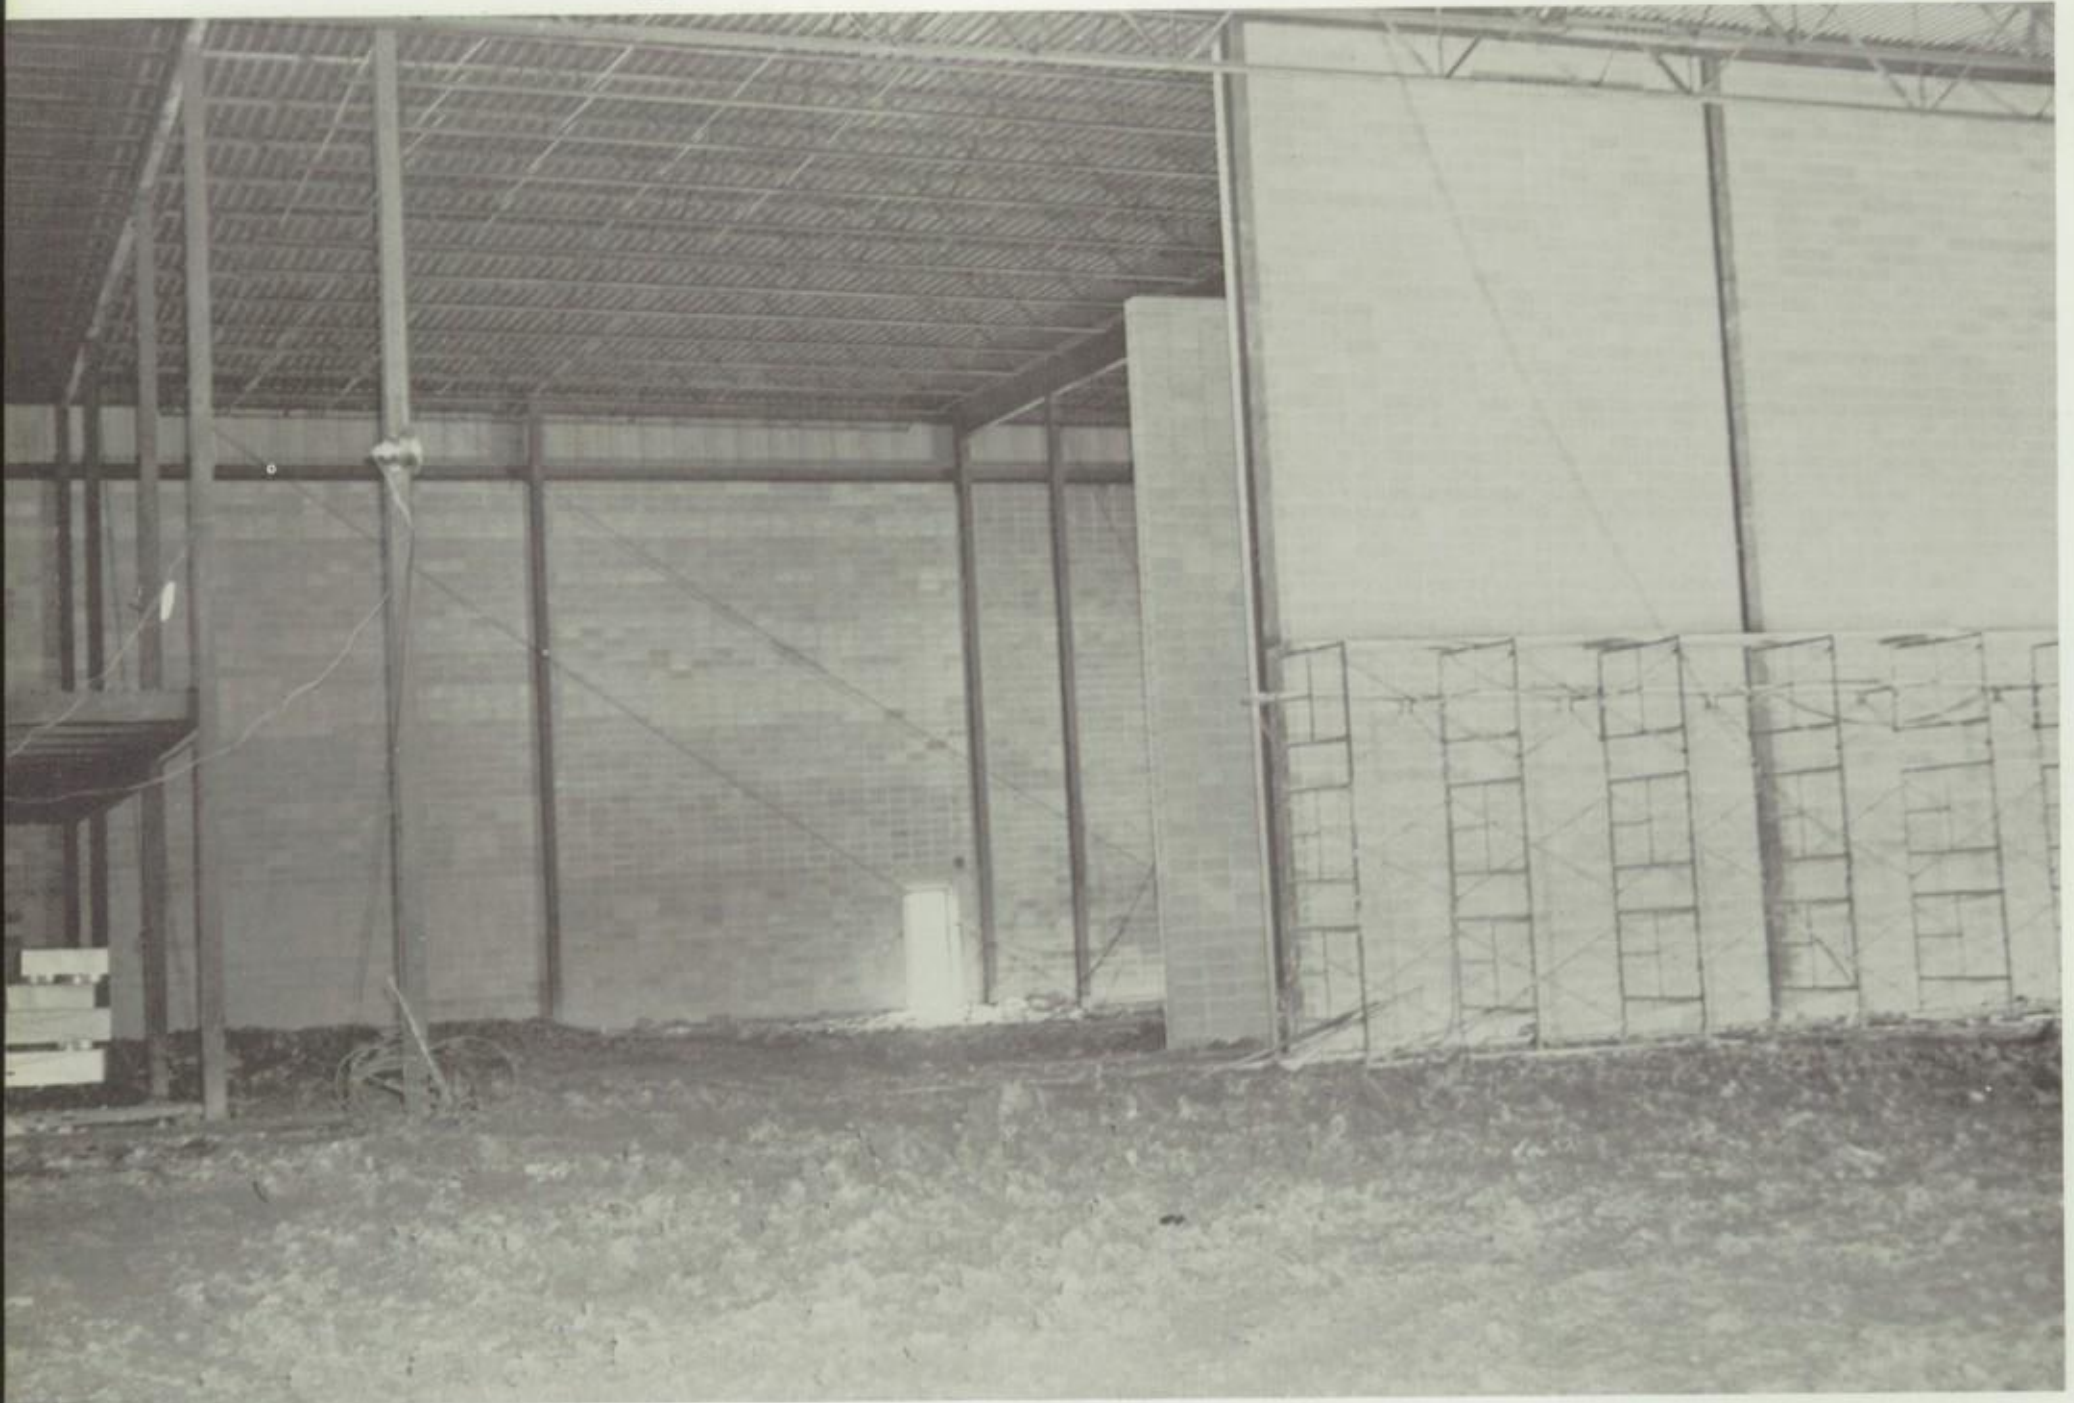

With the consolidation of Sunman High School and North Dearborn High School came the beginning of a new era; an era which brought new friendships; a wider range of learning experiences; and a different, challenging environment to the students and faculty at East Central.

With confusion at a maximum level, because of incomplete construction, many changes of the location of various classrooms had to be dealt with. Construction also affected extra curricular activities, causing many changes in the location of ballgames, concerts and convocations. This incompleteness, however, in no way affected student and teacher morale. Adaptions were made, when necessary, and carried out successfully by all of those concerned.

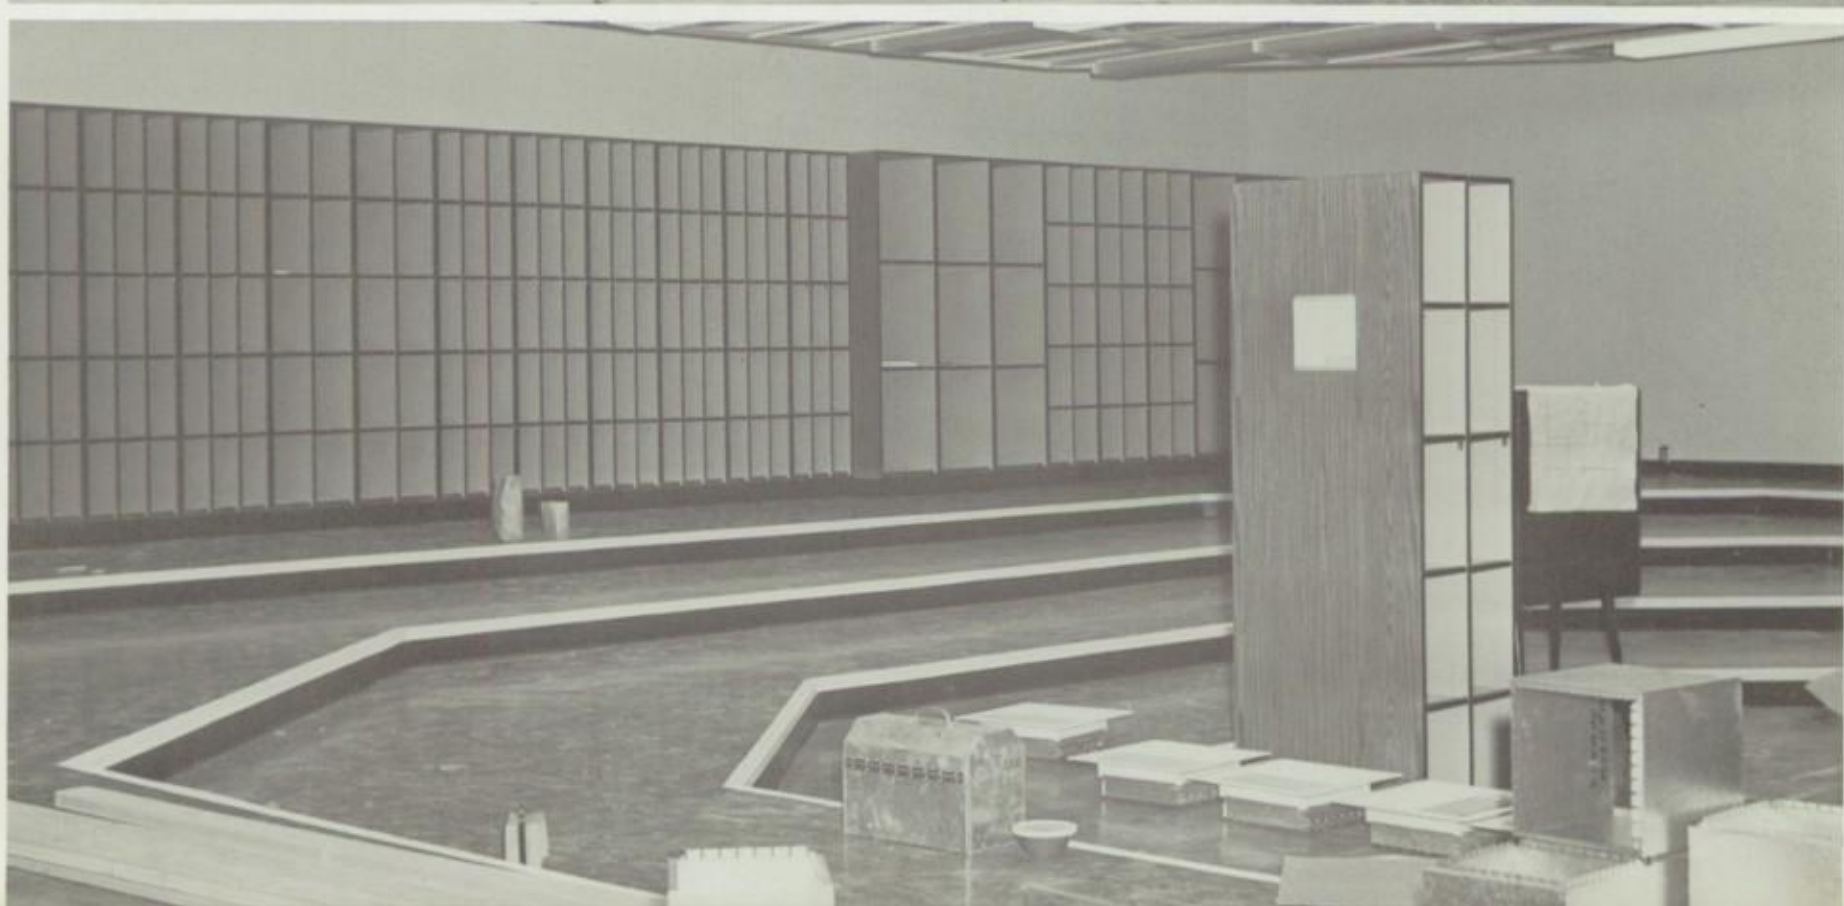

Additions to the construction of the building, and to the curriculum at East Central have contributed greatly to insure an excellent educational program, with the necessary equipment, laboratories and space. Within this new era, are the traditions we've etched; the memories we've absorbed; and the tremendous amount of knowledge we've assimilated over the years. This first year, with East Central High School's first student body, will in time, be referred to as the backbone of the many ideals, traditions and captivating student life, associated with East Central.

The atmosphere of learning thrives amidst construction, as East Central originates

PERSONALITY

Nineteen-seventy four was a busy year for Mr. Cousert, Dr. Baker and the School Board. There were many changes and adjustments that these men were responsible for. Working together they were very successful in all of their efforts.

A new member to the School Board this year is Mr. Sylvester Scheibel.

Policies determined by School Board

A new school, a new era, a new beginning. This is how East Central began this year. Yet—it truly began many months ago with planning and construction. It became a reality to all of us with the opening of school this fall. As we look back to that opening—we remember many things. We first felt confused, lost, remorseful about the past, and yet we all looked forward to a challenging life in our new school. It meant becoming adjusted to a different way of life and a different environment, it truly meant an entirely NEW BEGINNING for everyone concerned.

There could be no finer experience than what developed at the onset of school. Faculty and staff members planned and worked vigorously with the new building, curriculum areas and schedules. It was tiring and endless work. Students also worked diligently to make the school year a success. They are to be highly commended for their efforts.

As I review the year, I feel confident that East Central will be a great school. It has all the physical assets to make it a fine facility. But one needs more than a building to have a school—it takes the proper personnel. Fortunately, we have this. ALL PERSONS—faculty, staff, administration, and students have pulled together cooperatively and congenially to function in a diligent manner.

With the greatness of the above people—coupled with our new building, we have all the ingredients to make East Central the BEST.

Administrative personnel provides leadership

The wheels of change were set in motion by the merging of Sunman and North Dearborn into one school —East Central. It was our administration who had to set the new pace for advancement and success.

These people also extended their courtesy and concern in a time of confusion. Their help is cherished and valued by all.

Seniors share final year with new friends

The first year of East Central High School was the last year for the Class of 1974. The two schools united successfully and the time with our new friends so short. Yet in such a short time, the many activities brought seniors close and gave them lasting memories of their senior year.

Memories of band, football, basketball and many other activities and sports can bring nothing but a feeling of success to seniors.

Nineteen seventy-four brought new life to the junior class. Many saw school life as they had never seen it before. The year offered new opportunities which brought forth a surge of energy from the junior class 195 strong, as they began to take part in various activities. Everyone was eager to offer their ideas and talents. Classes such as Chemistry, United States History and English opened new areas of interest for all.

Much time and effort was spent as the juniors sold magazines and sponsored a chicken dinner. Finances from these projects were spent on the most exciting event of the year, the 1974 prom. In spite of their hard work, fun and good times were shared by all in making their prom a success.

Junior class officers—Steve Kaeser, president; Jody Hutson, vice-president; Diane Schuman, secretary; Georgia Ingles, treasurer; Freda Luers, class reporter.

Class of '76 gets involved at E.C.H.S.

The sophomores had no difficulty getting involved in all the big happenings at E.C.H.S. this year. Many sophomores participated in football, basketball, track and other activities. Those who did not participate could be counted on to back the Trojans faithfully.

Mr. Fox and Mr. Tucker, sponsors, helped to make 1974 a successful year for the sophomore class.

Work never ceases for Freshies

The East Central "freshies" had many decisions to make this year as they began to plan their high school schedules. With a wide variety of courses to choose from, they had to begin to consider which ones they would benefit the most from. The class of '77 looks on to their final three years of high school.

Frosh adjust to new roles at ECHS

Freshmen began to adjust to a new role as young adults. As they matured, they learned that each student has his own talents, skills, ambitions, likes and dislikes. With this in mind they learned to respect each other. This is a huge step toward the role of being an adult.

Grade 8 strives for their success

The eighth graders faced E.C.H.S. responsibilities. They were anxious to meet old friends and gain new ones. They were familiar with the routine of high school and became more involved in their school work and extra-curricular activities. Even though subjects were difficult, students learned to enjoy themselves in the process of learning.

Now they await their freshman year anxiously.

Grade seven enters new environment

The year proved rewarding for seventh graders as they struggled through their first year at East Central. Although at the beginning of the year they had difficulties keeping up with the hectic, fast moving pace they soon adjusted to their new environment. As they look back upon the year, all will agree that they have matured greatly and have gained a feeling of self-importance and responsibility.

Seventh grade class officers—John Seubert, treasurer; Christine Darling, class reporter; Paula Bennett, vice-president; Eric Merritt, secretary; Sam Goodall, president not shown.

SCHOOL LIFE

Cheers and tears characterize homecoming

1973-74 for many was a time for their first homecoming. The classes elected their candidates and cheered them on at the half time ceremonies.

The queen was chosen by a panel of people from the visiting school, Triton Central. Their decision was based on the girls personality and their appearances.

Sponsored by Miss Lowe, the East Central Dramatics Clubs' major production was the classic, "Our Town", by master playwright, Thornton Wilder; known for his magnetic works.

Many weeks of gruelling practice; late hours, and limited time, produced a play that was excellently portrayed by all the cast members, and executed with much confidence.

The play, presented in the newly finished auditorium, told the story of life in the small town of Grovers' Corners. The action centered around the Gibb and Webb families.

To pay for uniforms and various expenses, the band, with the help of others made 4800 pounds of fudge.

The final steps are filled with tears.

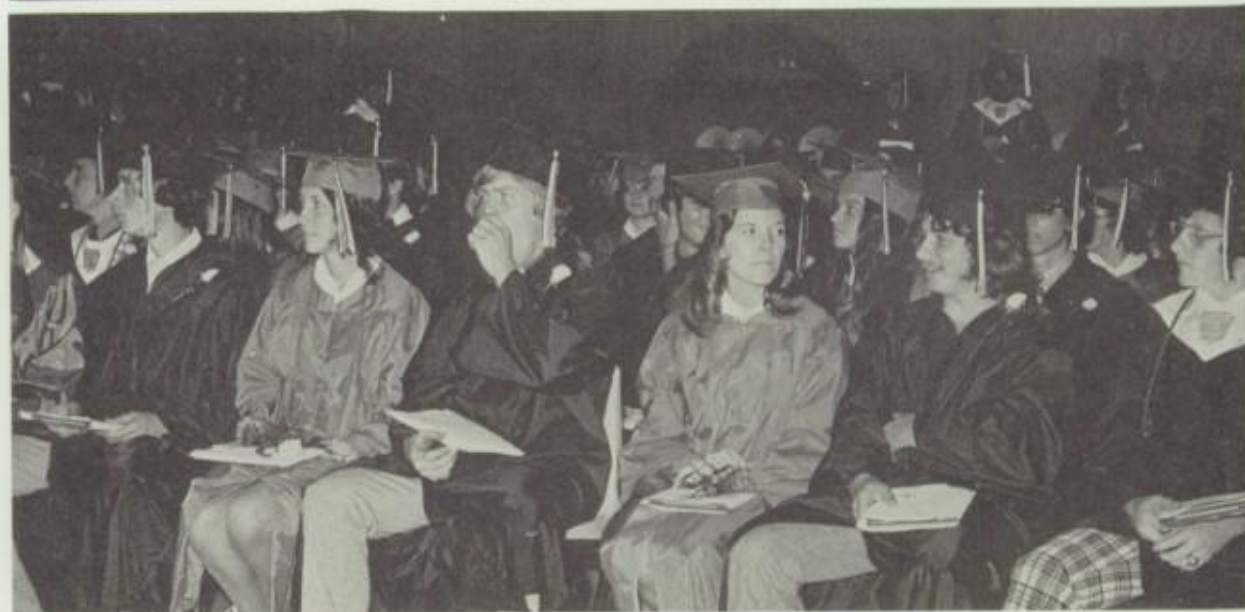

As the East Central High School Band, under the direction of Charles Green, played Pomp and Circumstance, the seniors took their final steps as students of E.C.H.S. Taking these steps brought tears of happiness mixed with tears of sadness as these students remembered their past four years of high school. With four years behind them, these seniors realize that their joys in life are not ending but that they are just beginning. With much anticipation, excitement and fear, these graduates are ready to face a whole new world, different from the sheltered school life they have led for twelve years. They are prepared to meet many new challenges and to put to use the knowledge they have learned.

Above: Seniors had just entered the gymnasium to start their graduation exercises. Below: Seniors are shown as they were coming to receive their diplomas. Each senior enjoyed this very special moment. One hundred seventy-four seniors were graduated.

Gary Steinmetz, president of the senior class was happy to conduct the tassel ceremony. The class was eager for this moment to arrive.

Seniors displayed mixed emotions as they came to receive their diplomas but each seemed to be enjoying a special feeling of accomplishment on this their graduation day. This group of seniors also became the first graudates of E.C.H.S.

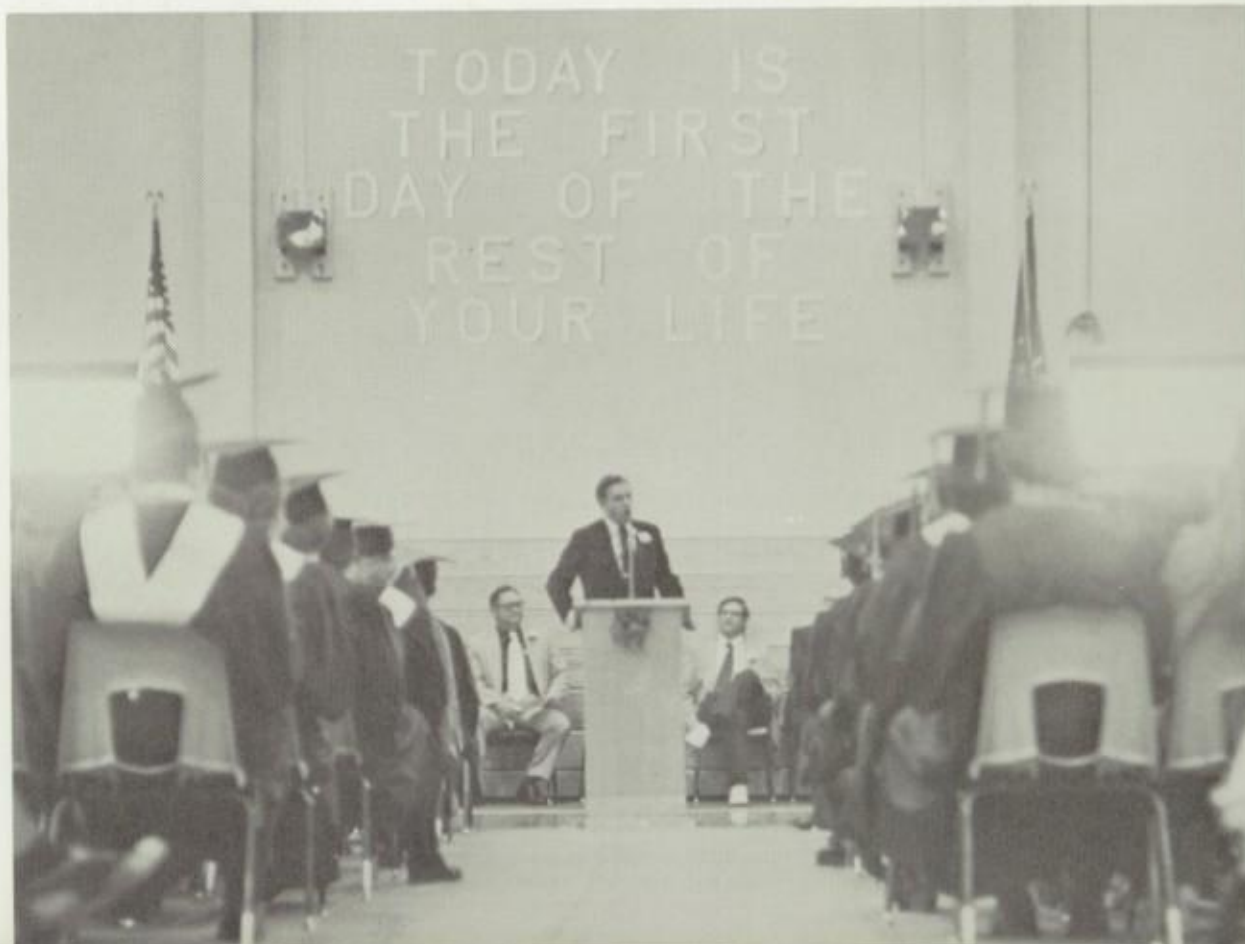

The high school band under the direction of Mr. Charles Green provided the music for the graduation activities. Below: Arch holders for graduation are members of national honor society and the Beta club.

After twelve years of hard work, seniors wear a smile as they receive their diplomas. They can certainly be proud on this occasion.

The first commencement exercises were held on June 2, in the high school gymnasium. The program started off with the East Central Band playing March of the Olympians. Pomp and Circumstance followed. As soon as the seniors were in vice president Doug Sykes led the pledge of Allegiance. Mr. Winters recognized the honor students and then presented the speaker, Dr. John Horner, president of Hanover College. The class of 1974 was given their diplomas after the commencement address. The tassel ceremony was then conducted by the class president, Gary Steinmetz as the seniors became the first graduates of East Central High School.

E.C.H.S. enchanted as Denise rules

The evening of February 1, 1974 was proven to be one filled with excitement. During halftime of the basketball game with Dillsboro, the coronation of the Sweetheart Queen took place.

The candidates for Sweetheart Queen were: senior, Denise Nowlin; junior, Vicki Borgman; Sophomore, Beverly Lewis; and freshman, Anne Tidwell. Gary Steinmetz, Student Council president, crowned Denise Nowlin Queen. The crown being in place, Greg Stith Student Council Vice President presented Denise with the bouquet of roses.

After the crowning, Denise, with her court took their place upon the stage overlooking the basketball court. The setting, being red and white, with various hearts and cupids was very appropriate for the Sweetheart theme.

Amidst snowflakes, snowmen and a rustic wooden bridge, the theme "Winter Wonderland" unfolded for all Sunshine Society members, and their dates. After much bad weather, and the resulting postponements, the winter formal was finally scheduled for February 23, 1974. The delay, however, only made the dance that much more captivating and lovely.

The highlight of the evening was the Queen crowning. As tensions reached a summit, Diane Schuman, SSS president placed the tiara on Paulette Werner. With a faint trace of tears and a radiant smile, Paulette and her date Russ Zeller took their spot in the center of the decorated cafeteria for the Royal Dance.

The band Free and Easy provided the music and ample entertainment.

On April 27, 1974, the junior class presented to the faculty and seniors a wonderful junior-senior prom. The theme of this years prom was “Beyond The Yellow Brick Road”.

There was a dinner from 7:30 to 9:00, and then Bluestone Ivory entertained as the guests danced and took pictures. The highlight of the evening was the king and queen crowning ceremonies.

FFA members vie for honors at banquet

Many of the plaques, certificates, and awards earned this year by E.C.H.S. FFA members are shown above. The two adults pictured were recognized as honorary chapter farmers because of their contributions of time and effort made to the local chapter this year.

One of the highlights of the year for the FFA members is the Parent-Son Banquet held annually to honor those students displaying outstanding achievements in their organizational projects. Students work hard individually and in groups to win local and state contests. Many plaques and awards are then presented each year to these individuals at the banquet.

ACADEMIC

Students are given choice of their classes for English

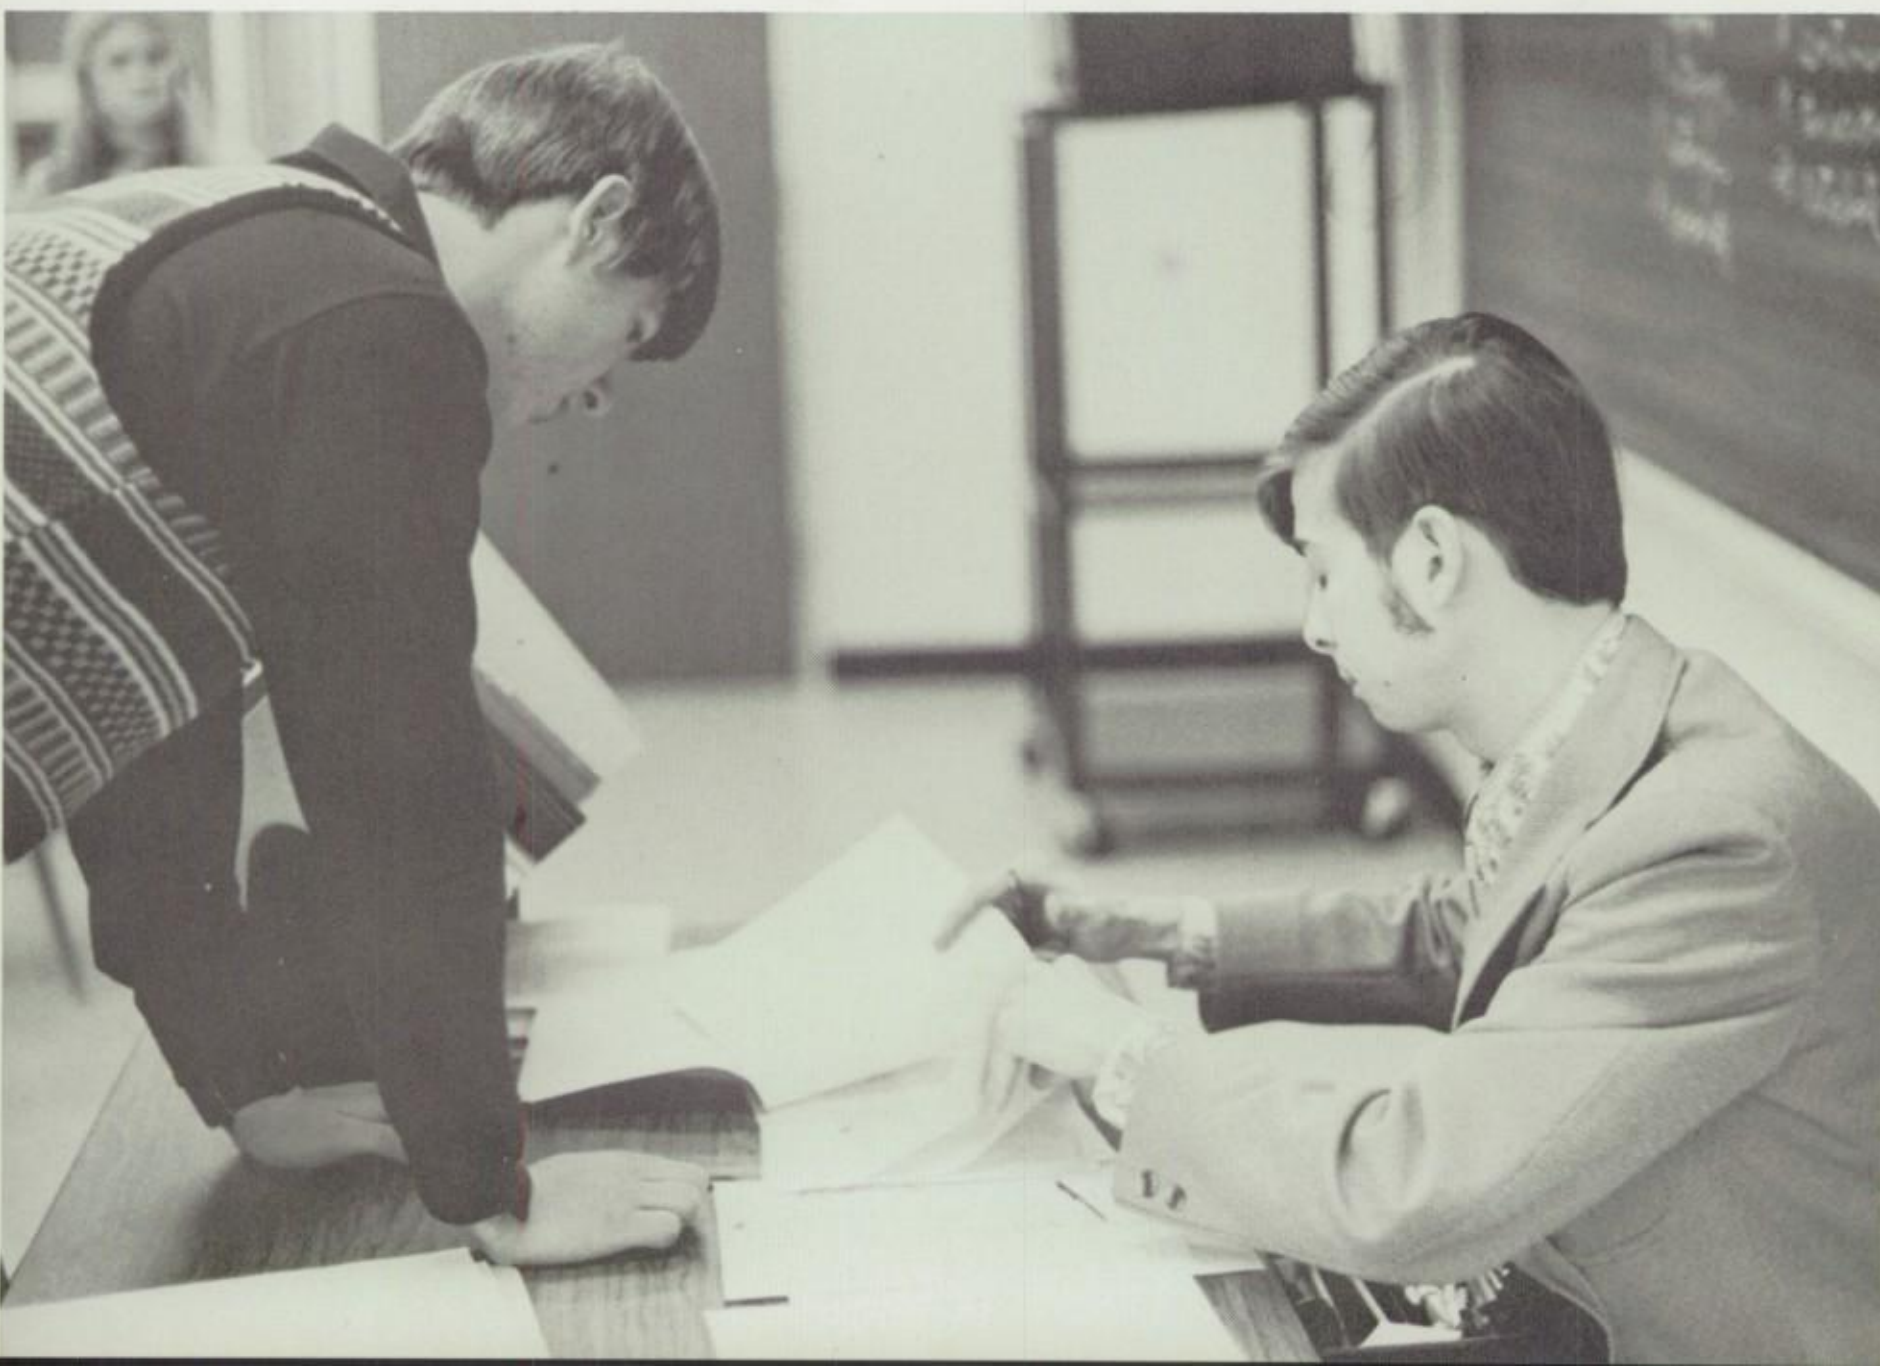

The English department has expanded very effectively this year. The phase electives, that is, various choices of courses, are the key words for it. Freshman are still obligated to take grammar courses, but sophomores, juniors and seniors are permitted to indulge in a course they feel will best fulfill their needs for whatever careers they may choose. Heading the English department for the 1973-1974 school year is Mrs. Rosemary Woolery.

Tammy Swales, Debbie Ashcraft, Jackie Corson, and Sherry Fisher discuss the aspects of a layout for a difficult spread in the Shield.

The newspaper staff spends many class periods thinking of and creating many types of articles and columns to put in the Sword.

Journalism quality high in first year

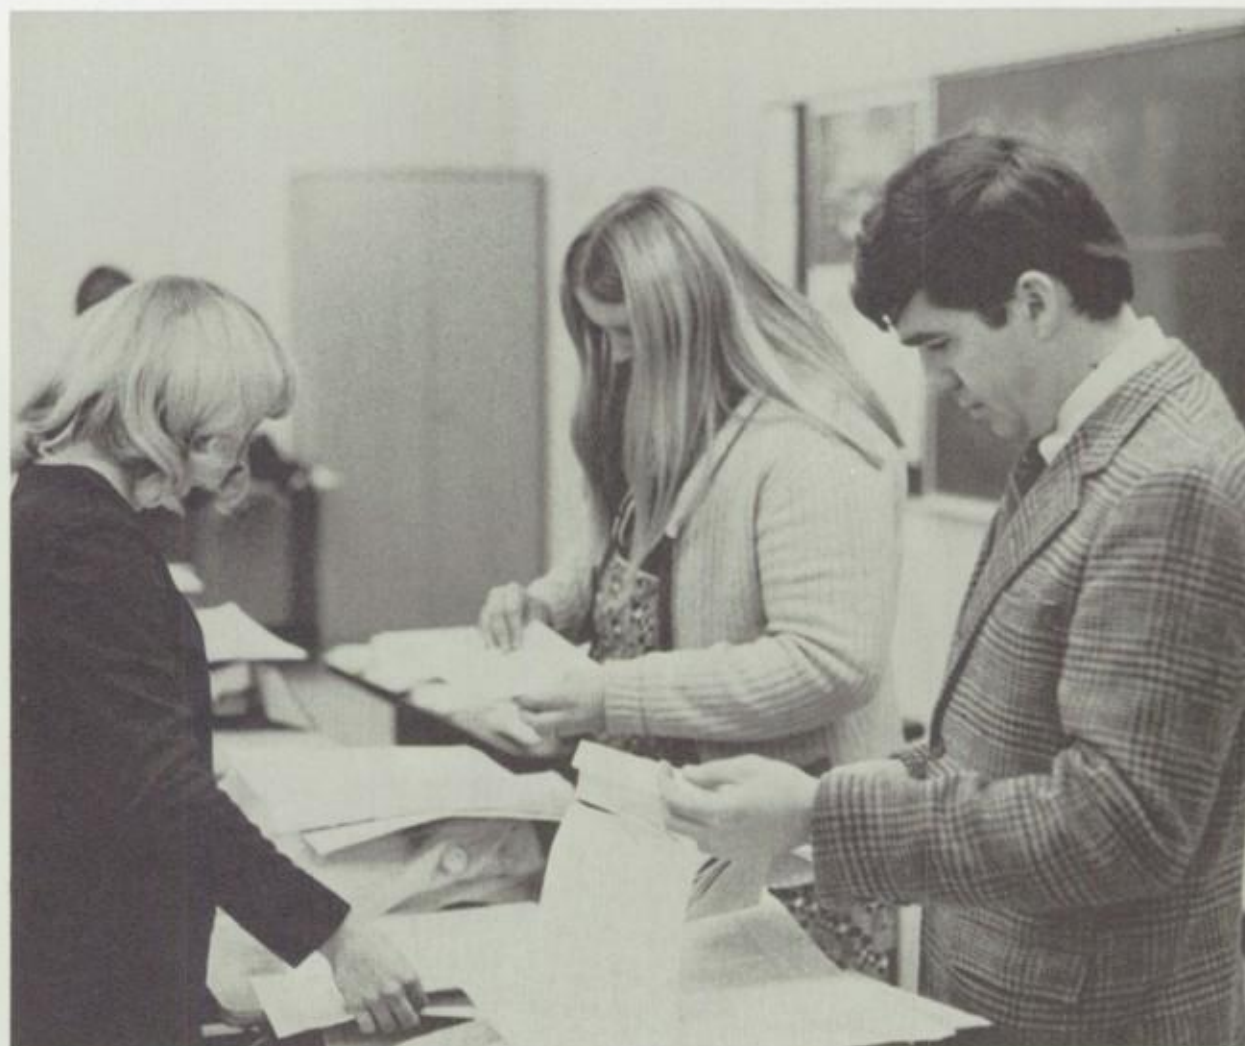

Journalism at East Central has made a great improvement from prior years at North Dearborn and Sunman. The staff members of the school newspaper, the Sword, have gained a few long awaited changes. The twelve member staff now has a class period to itself that it didn't have before. This allows the staff to achieve higher quality work and to learn more due to greater student-teacher encounters which are the result of smaller classes. The newspaper also comes out at regular editions, more often, and with a larger variety of articles and columns.

The Shield has received many advantages that the Spotlight and the Viking Log did not have. Besides the new size of the yearbook and the number of pages, the yearbook has also gained a class period for only yearbook work and a better source of materials to work and create with.

Nancy Hess and Byron Robinson confer on a feature story for the next issue.

Mr. Jeffery, photographer for the yearbook, takes a break from his picture schedule.

Spanish and French gain significance

Foreign language studies, as have the other classes at the new school, are provided with a much better selection of materials and a better supply of equipment. Both the Spanish and the French classes were given new books this year; new headphones were bought for oral and audio practice; and more reference material was made available to students in class and for personal use. The curriculum has also been improved. There now is a third year in Spanish, and French has a combination second year-third year class.

Upper Right: Putting homework assignments on the board helps students recognize mistakes.

Mrs. Thompson lectures to the French classes to clarify reading assignments and to add to their knowledge of the French culture and customs.

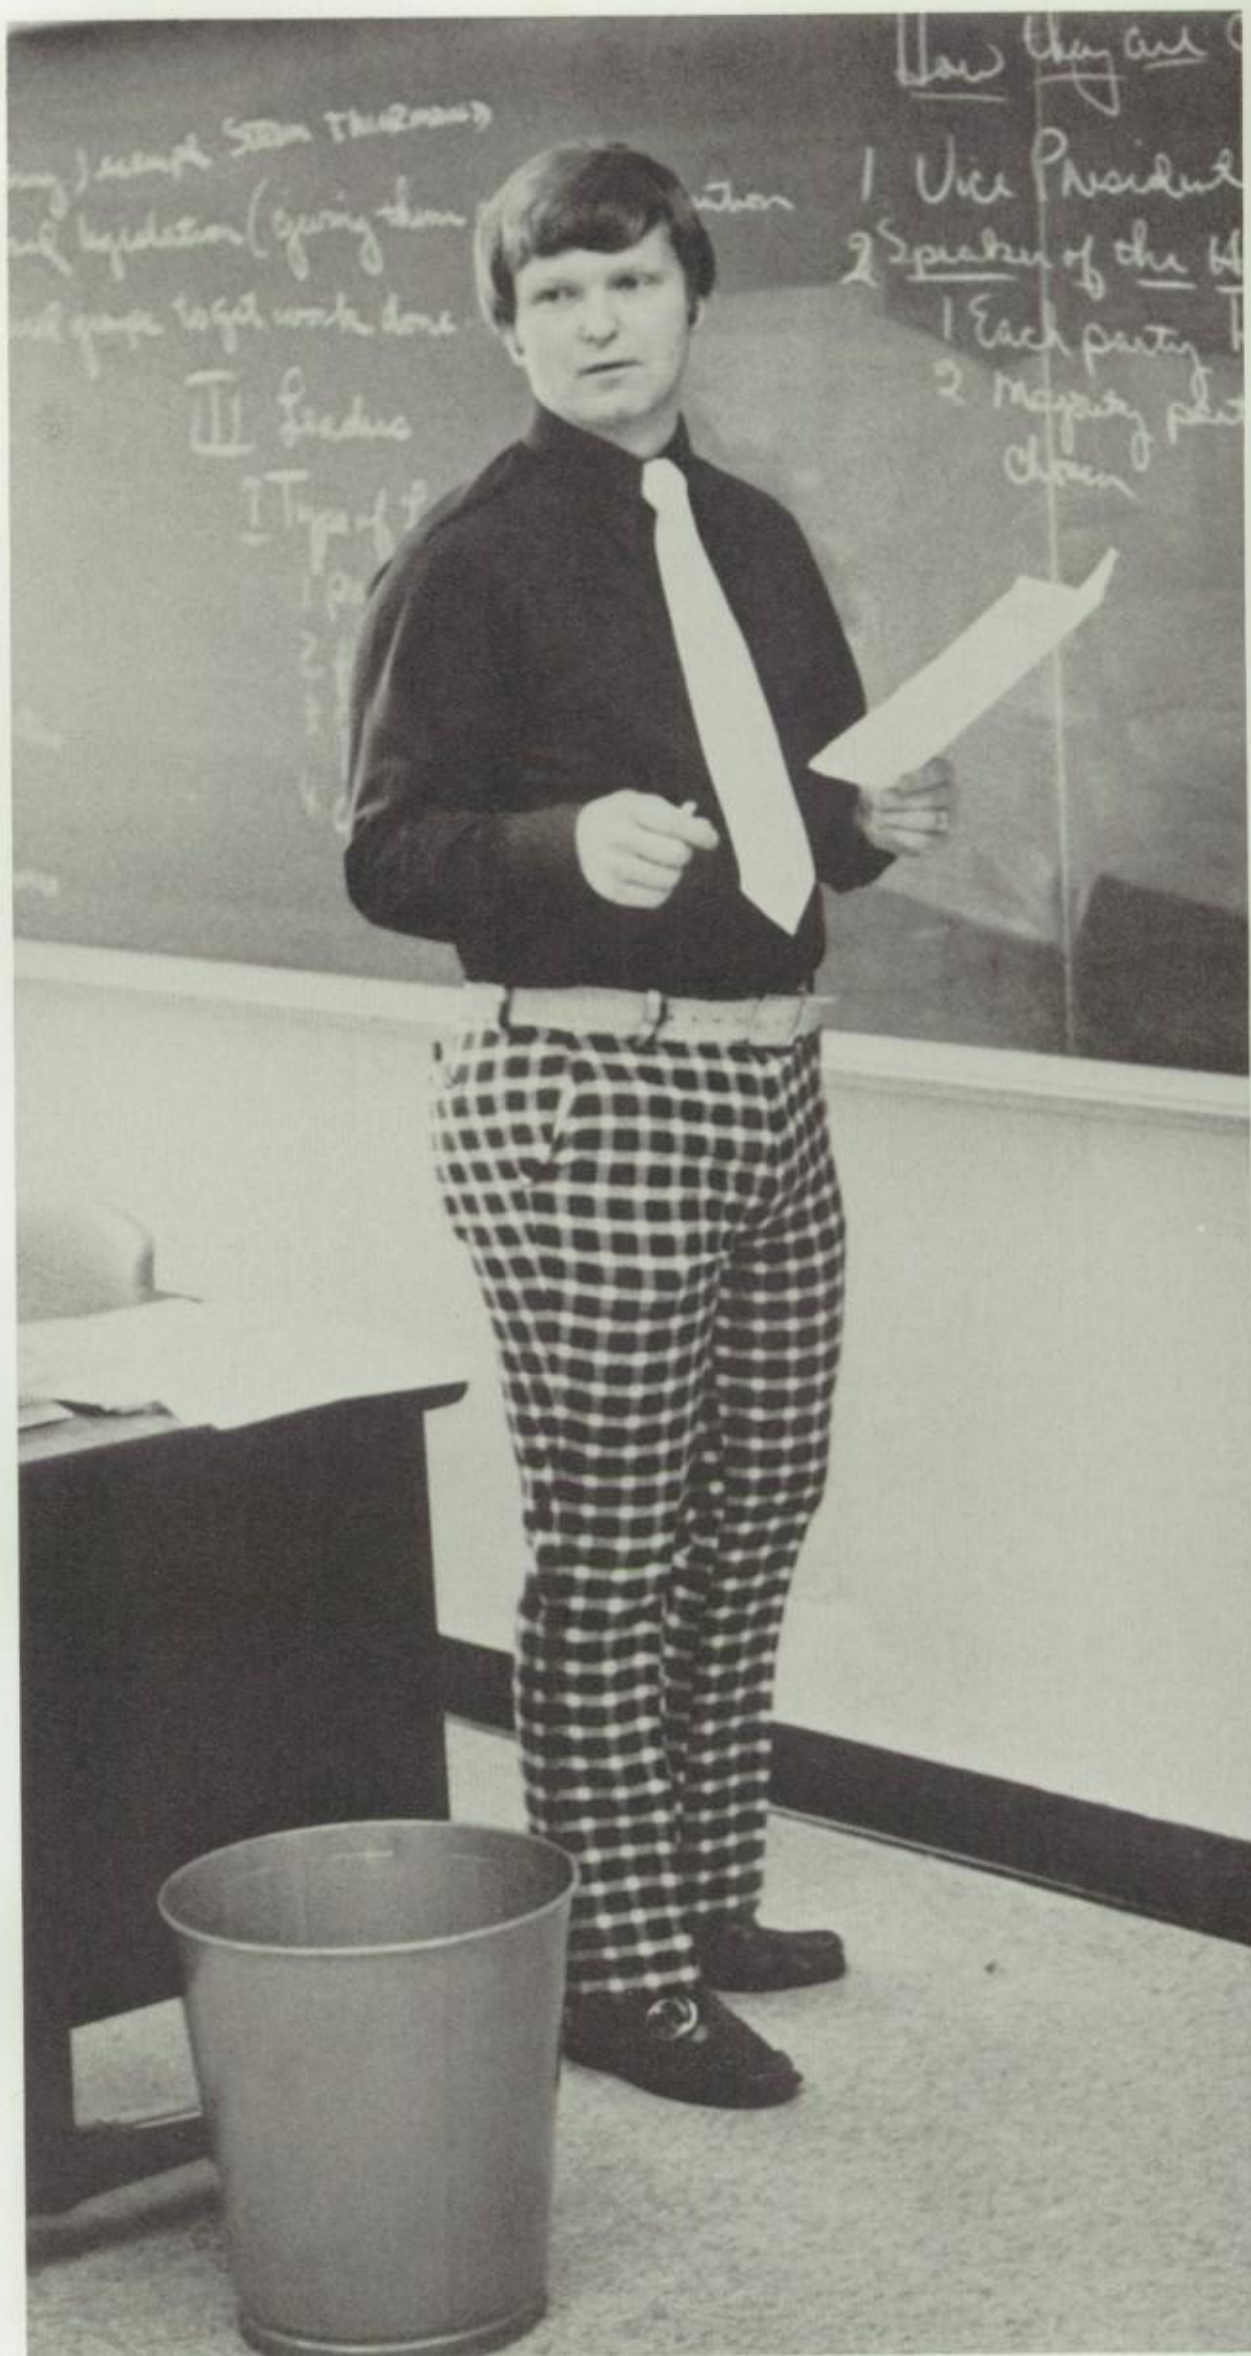

Students in U.S. history use a fifteen minute break at the end of the period to study.

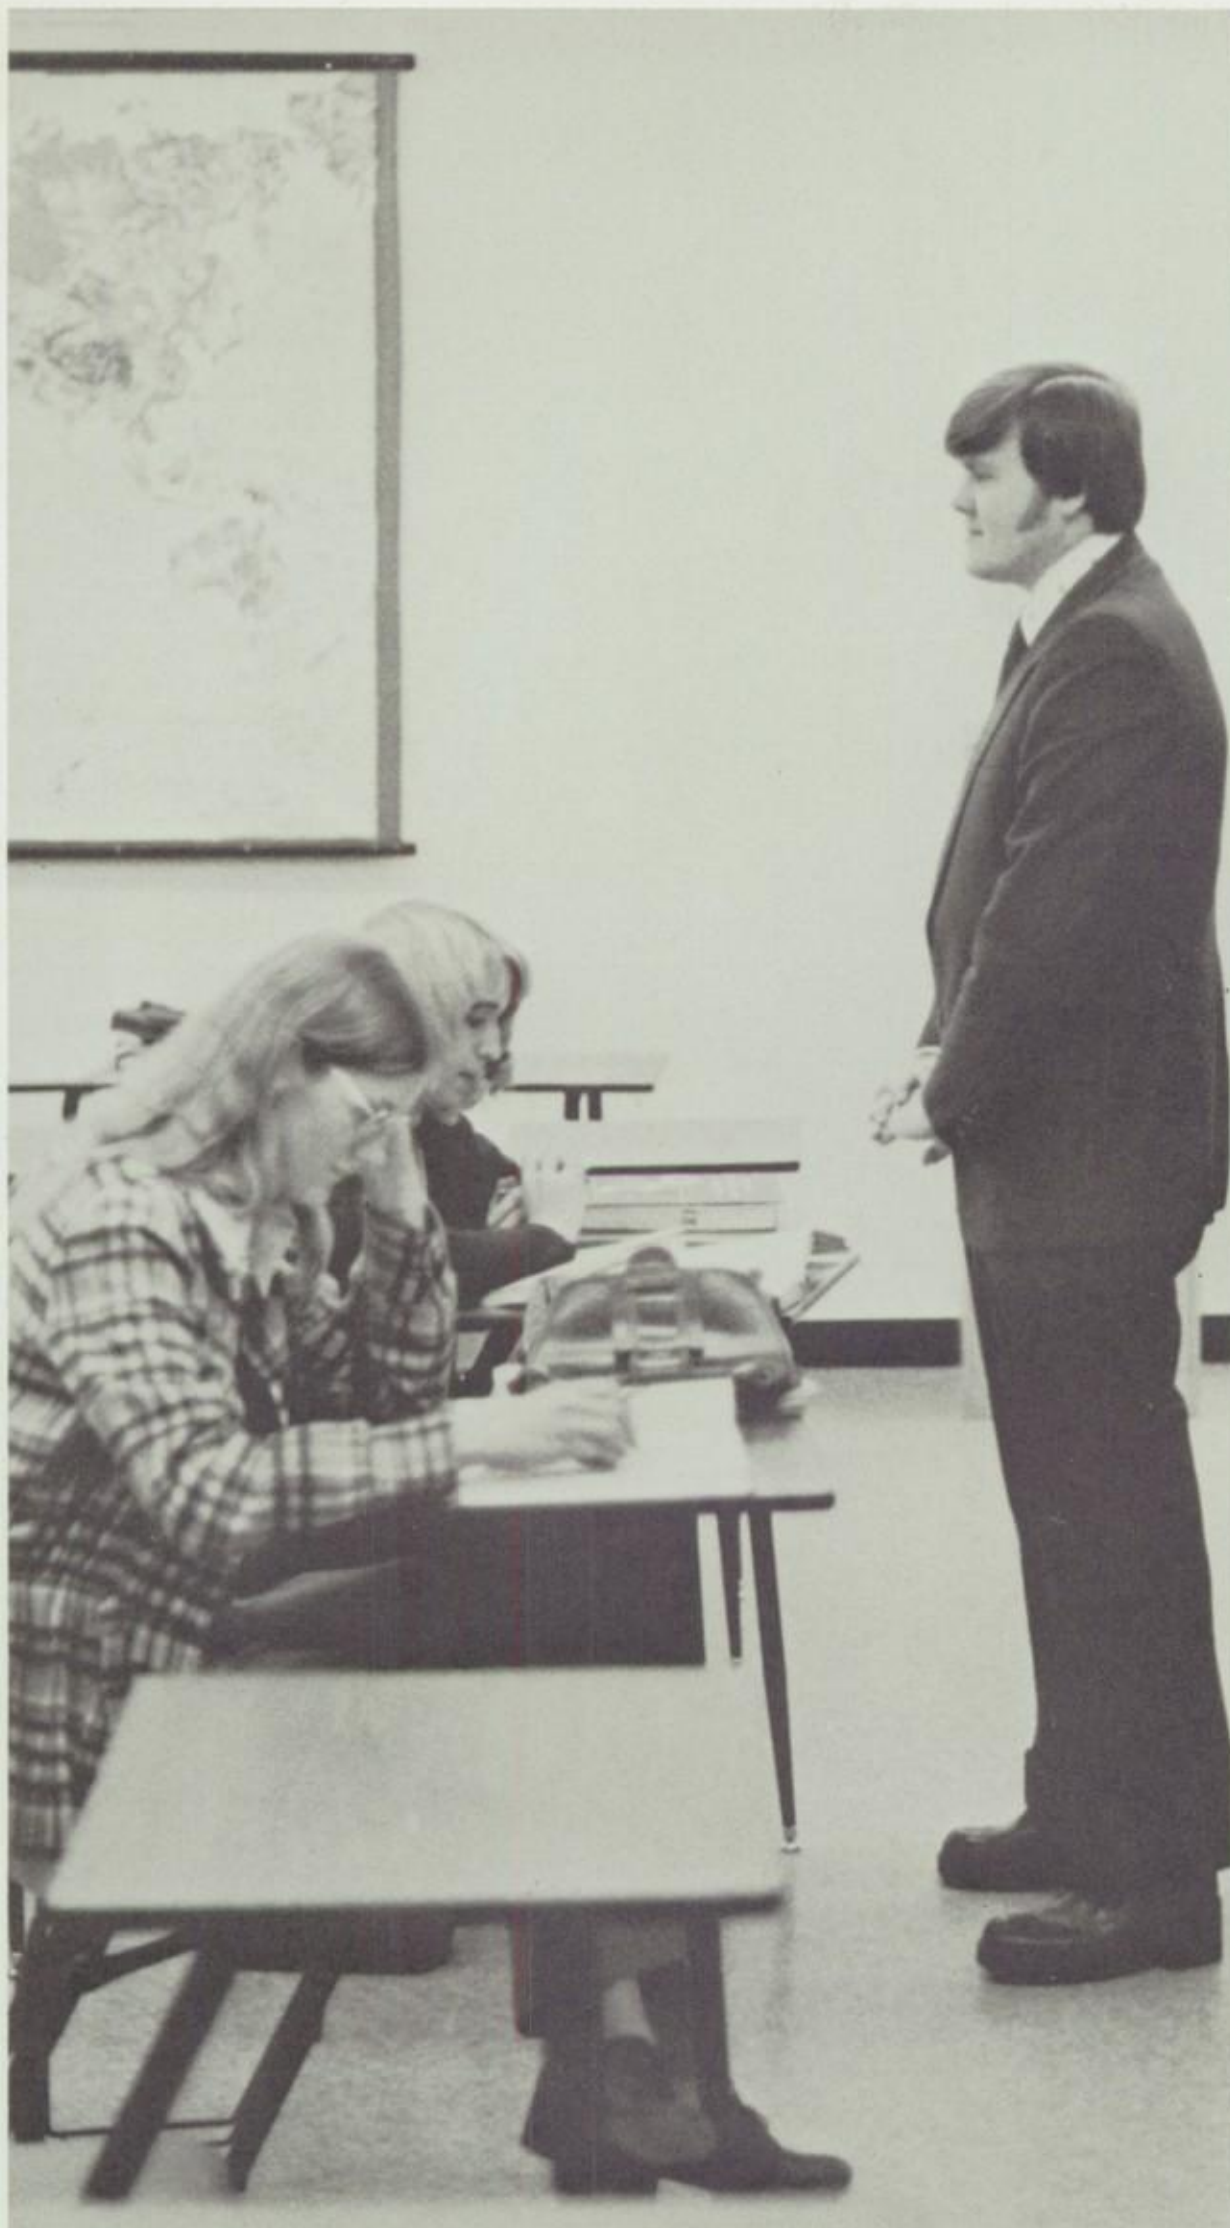

Mr. Moulton gives students a working outline to supplement the assignment in the text.

Mr. Nowlin gives notes on the board and the book usually serves as a supplement.

Social studies stress man and his world

Mr. Linville teaches the only psychology-sociology class certain characteristics of neurosis.

Only a few changes have been brought about this year in the social studies department. There has been a more extensive use of audio-visual materials, a few new classes, such as today's problems, added, and debates in some classes were more numerous than before. This year has been the last for many of the things in the social studies department due to the whole revamping of the social studies programming which seniors have finally received for next year and due to the adoption of new books in the entire social studies department.

Most history classes involve many lectures.

Science Department expands class choices

Cyndi Smith and Jeff Blasdel experiment with a glucose solution in physiology class.

Teamed with a new curriculum are the courses Earth science, advanced chemistry, and physiology. For the science-oriented students, these courses have given them a new insight; expanding their knowledge in preparing for the many careers they may choose. The East Central science department may well be one of the most modern in Eastern Indiana. With ample room space, and a superabundance of experimental equipment, the students enrolled in science classes have topped those in previous years.

Contributing to nearly every facet of the scientific world, the science department consists of: chemistry I; advanced chemistry; biology; advanced biology; physics; physiology; Earth science; general science; and junior high school science classes.

Home economics broadens its curriculum

Doug Sykes, Roger James, Perry Seamon, Brian Swales, Don Irrgang contribute much to the sound of the band.

Mark Russell, Greg Fox, Dan Seevers, and Gary Ahaus play in the band's well-rounded trumpet section.

Band and Chorus build on their original musical ability

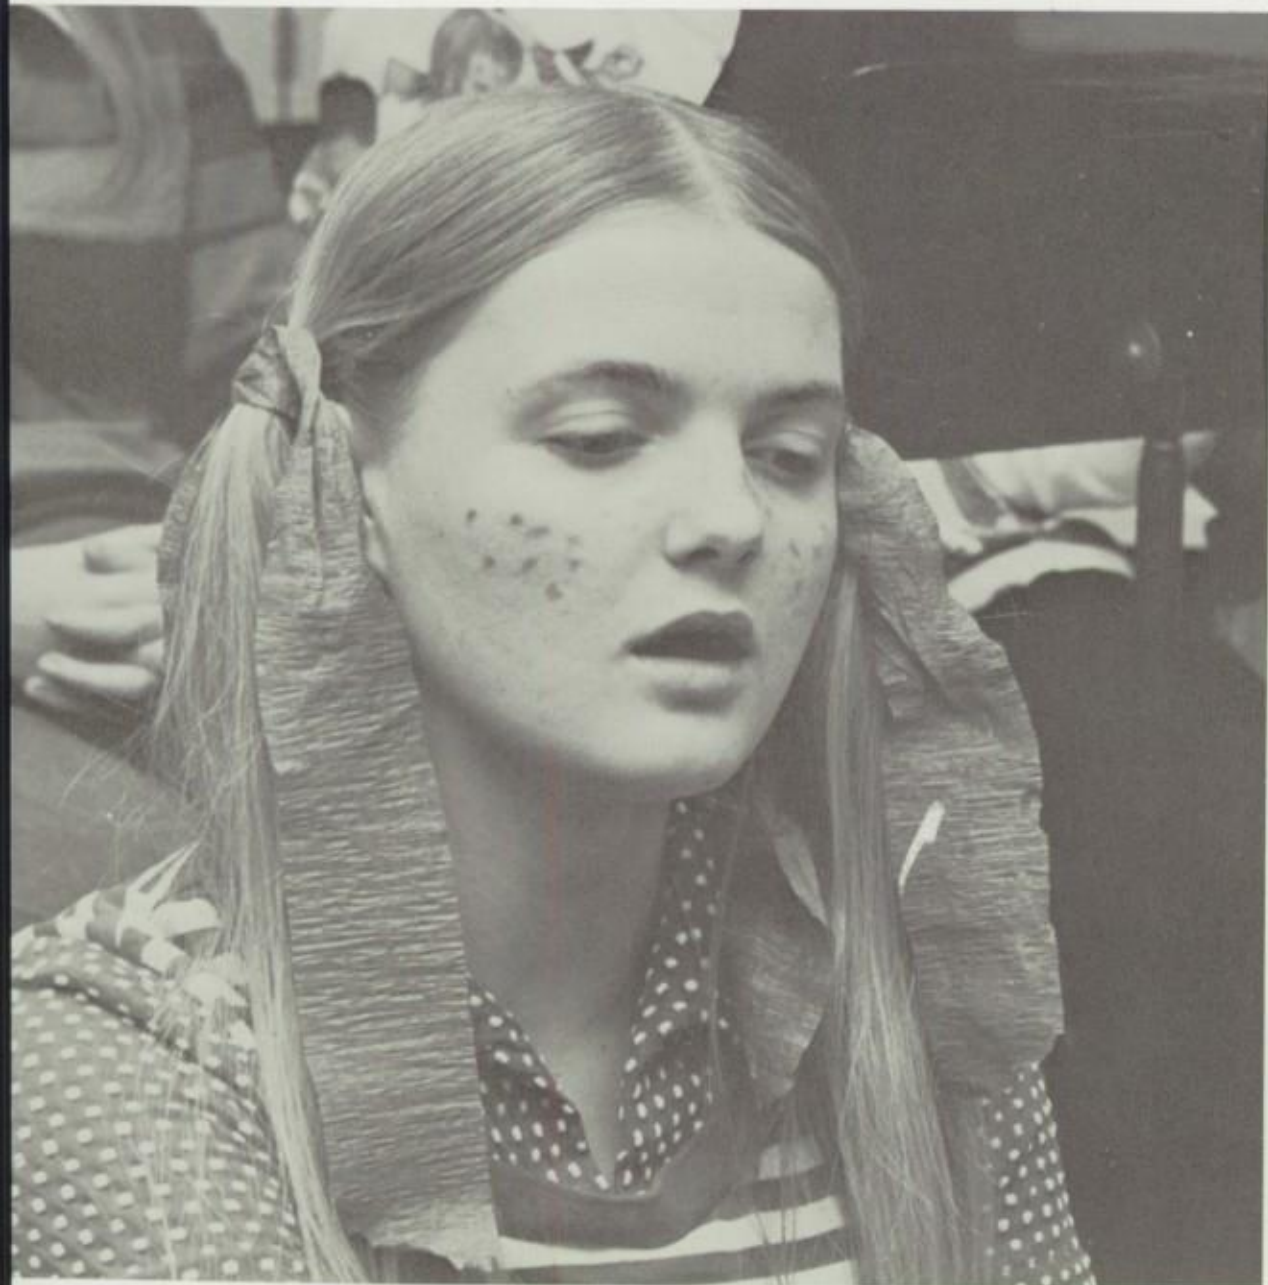

Stage band which meets fifth period is often heard in the halls playing rock and roll music.

The East Central music department has become, despite very good competition from other schools and from the years at Sunman and North Dearborn, a well known and very respected performing musical group. The band which is now 220 members strong shows its size is not the only surprising characteristic it displays. It also has the good large sound needed by a trained and functional musical group.

Stage band, previously extracurricular, is now a class for students basically oriented toward the performing side of music. It has appeared several times this year in concerts.

Chorus is now in the daily schedule. This was an outside activity, but it now is handled at school. There are two class periods to accommodate the 90 member chorus which has great potential in the years to come.

Mr. Kling plays a new song to learn in chorus.

Students learn to strengthen physical skills

Physical education this year proved to be a more difficult course to many because the gymnasium and locker room were unfinished. Classes were improvised by using other rooms throughout the school and activities which could be done safely. In many respects the courses this year offered more to interest students. Wrestling, for example, gave boy's gym classes a spurt of enthusiasm as did the variety of sports and activities added to girls' classes. Mr. Schill is the head of the boys' physical education department. Mrs. Robinson is the girls' physical education department head.

Girls' physical education classes learn tumbling and floor gymnastics.

Boys learn wrestling holds from Mr. McKay in physical education classes.

Ricky Tibbits, Sam Fox, and Dan Batta participate in substitute activities while gym is being completed.

Art classes gain interest and materials

This year's art department had an extremely wide diversity of projects to work on. Classes had a large supply of materials. Among some of the works of art created by art students were tooled leather belts, macrame purses, clay sculptures, paper mache, scrap collages, and India ink drawings.

Course offerings included in the curriculum are: art 7; art 8; basic art; jewelry and metal design; crafts design; drawing; painting; photography; sculpture; history and environmental art; and studio art (arranged). Mr. Butcher is the head of the department which includes in its teaching staff Mr. Fischer and Mrs. Welter.

Shop, vo-ag have more to offer students

The industrial arts, or shop, classes are responsible for teaching students such things as drafting, woodworking, and general shop. The agriculture, or vo-ag, courses train students in some of the requirements involved in the field of agriculture. The courses offered include: agriculture I and II, welding, agricultural mechanics, farm business management, and wildlife.

Shop and vocational-agricultural students have very good training available to them this year. The main purpose of these classes, to teach the student the basic skills in each respective area, has been accomplished with great success. Mr. Anderson is the head of the industrial arts. Mr. Wright heads the vo-ag department.

General woods, a shop class, works primarily with sawing and constructing with wood.

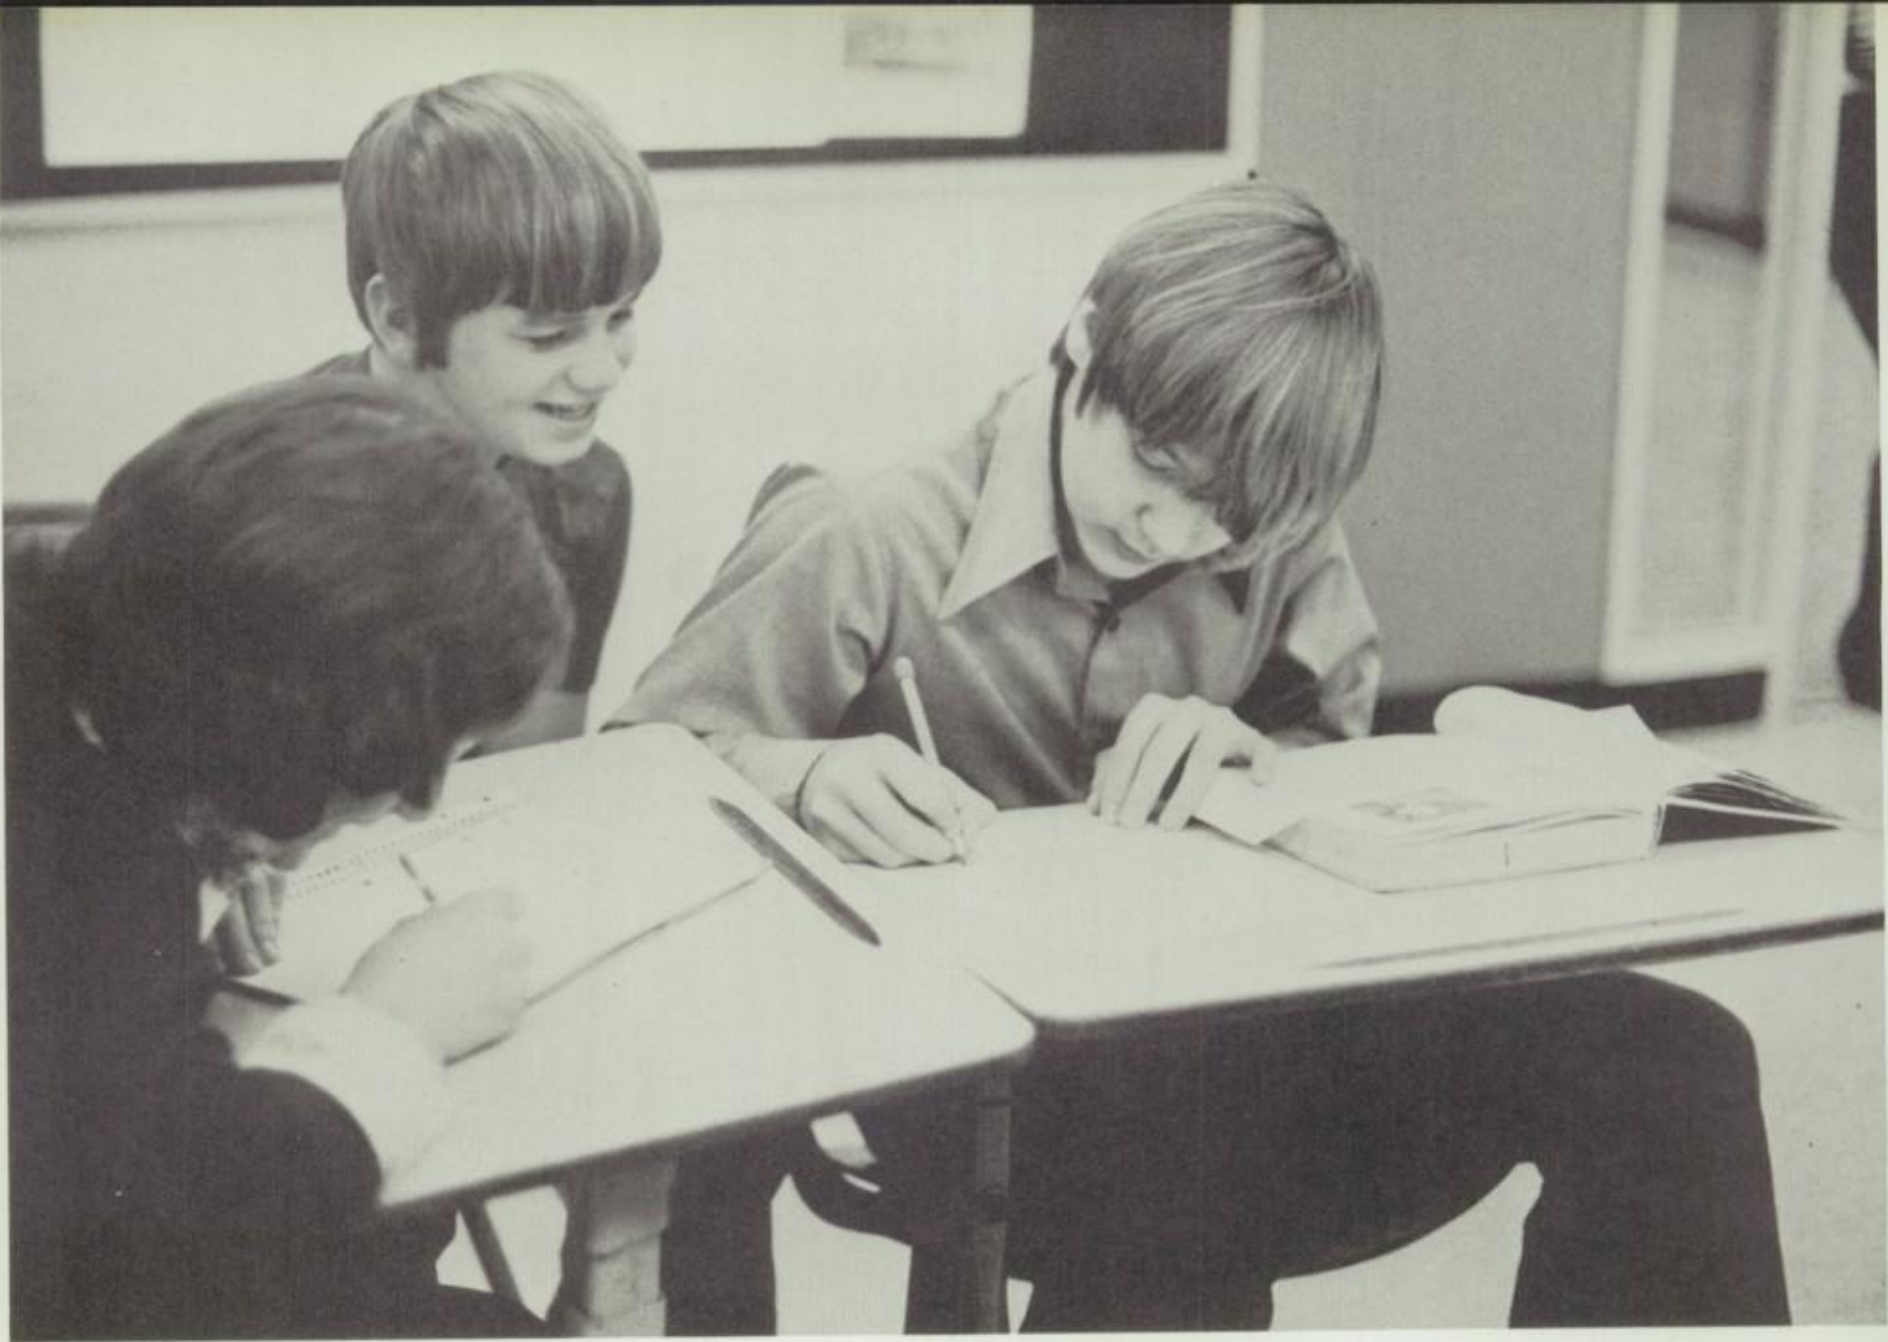

Mr. Konradi, part of the agriculture teaching staff, checks over a reading assignment while the class studies.

Mr. Wright explains to Dennis McConnell and Dave Borgman the ideas behind an assignment in agriculture I.

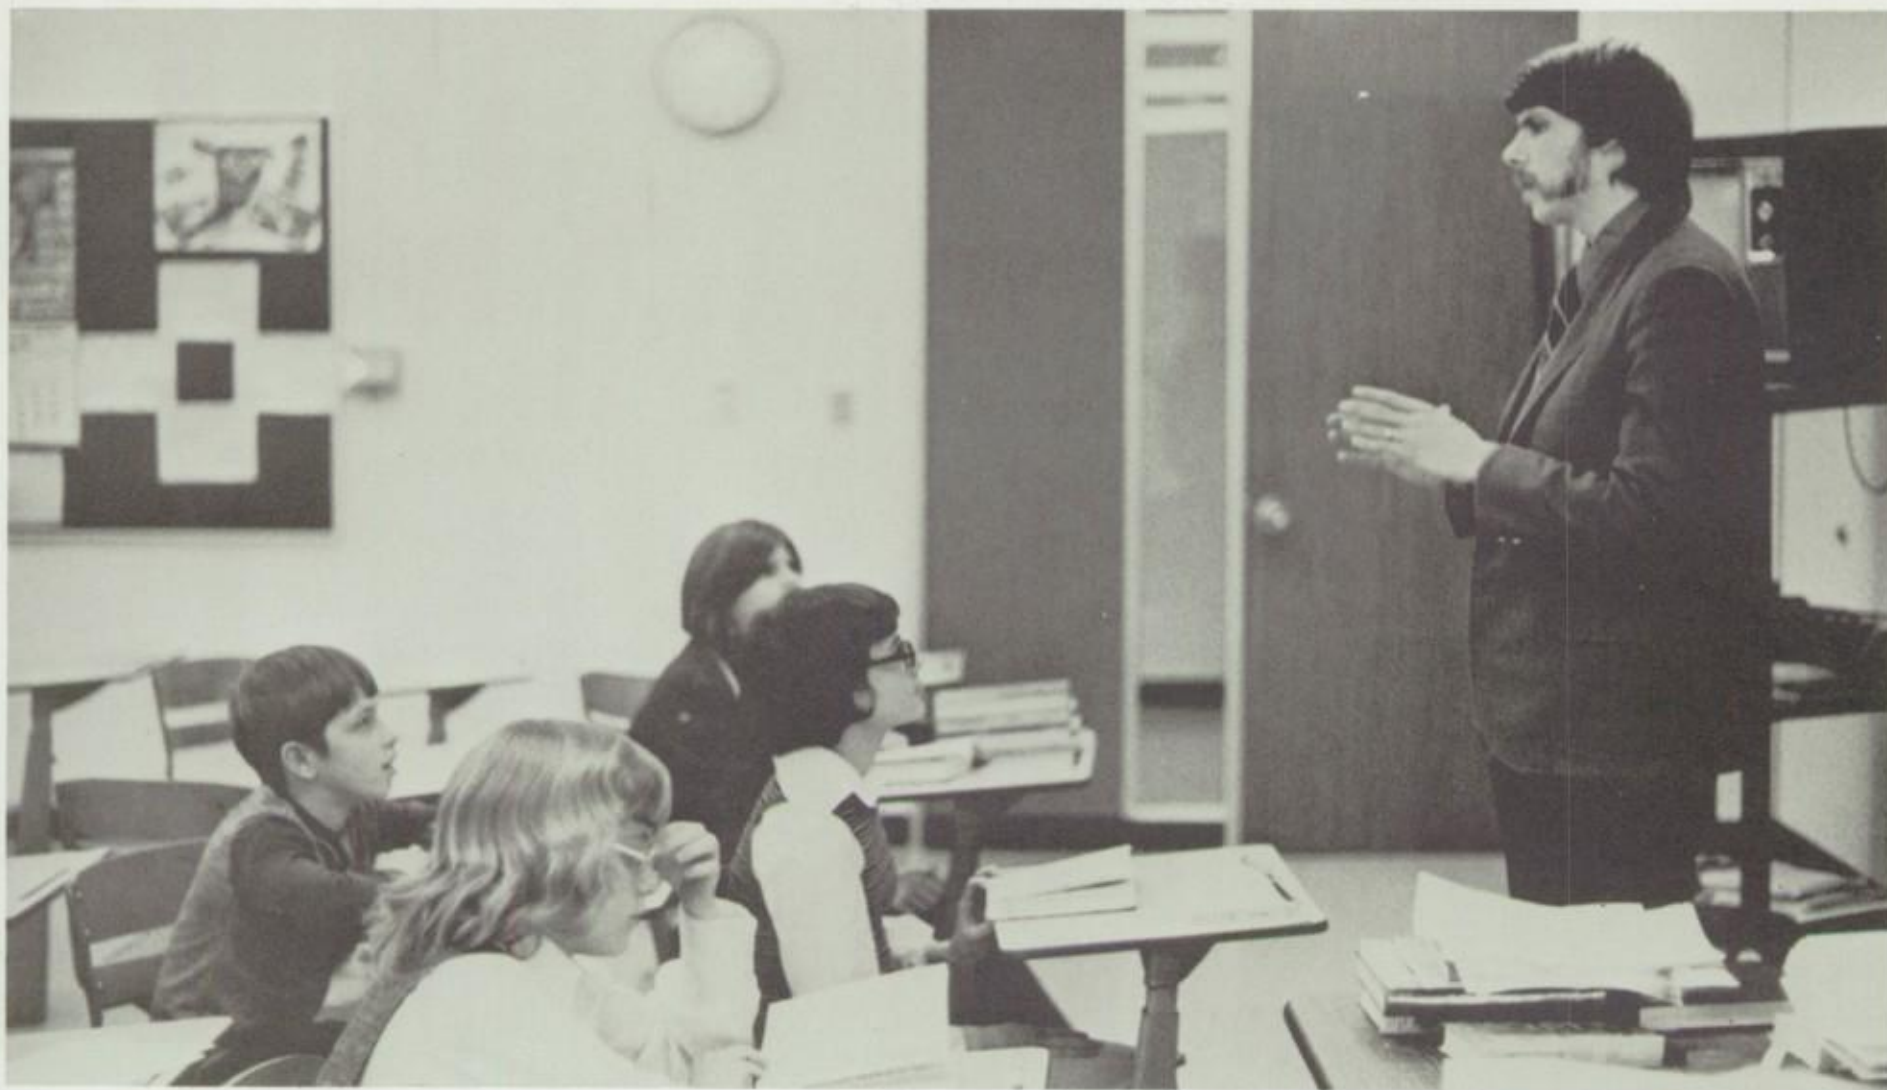

Junior high students work and study during a class period, yet still manage to enjoy themselves while working.

Eighth grade social studies students seize a few humorous moments during their class's scheduled routine.

Junior high students face new experiences

Mr. Martin takes time to explain part of an English homework assignment to some students who need aid.

Mr. Tackett's seventh grade social studies class listens intently as Mr. Tackett explains American history.

Coach Nowlin leads Trojans to an EIAC tie

With enthusiasm and determination the Trojan coaching staff and team began practice for East Central's first football season last August, working hard toward the Jamboree. The 1974 football squad hosted the Jamboree and exhibited a great performance by defeating both Batesville and South Decatur. The Trojans completed their season with a very impressive record of seven wins and three losses. The gridiron squad made an excellent showing for the first year by becoming EIAC co-champs. The reserve team ended their season with a record of 2 wins and 3 losses. On the all conference team were the following: Tom Tidwell, center, Doug Ziegler, safety, Phil Lozier, guard, Dan Seevers, linebacker, Tim Behlmer, defensive guard, Rick Brown, defensive end. Honorable mention were Whitey Skipton, safety, Russ Zoller, corner linebacker, Kurt Klem, halfback, Steve Kaeser, guard, and Mike White, quarterback.

Five game winning streak climaxes basketball season

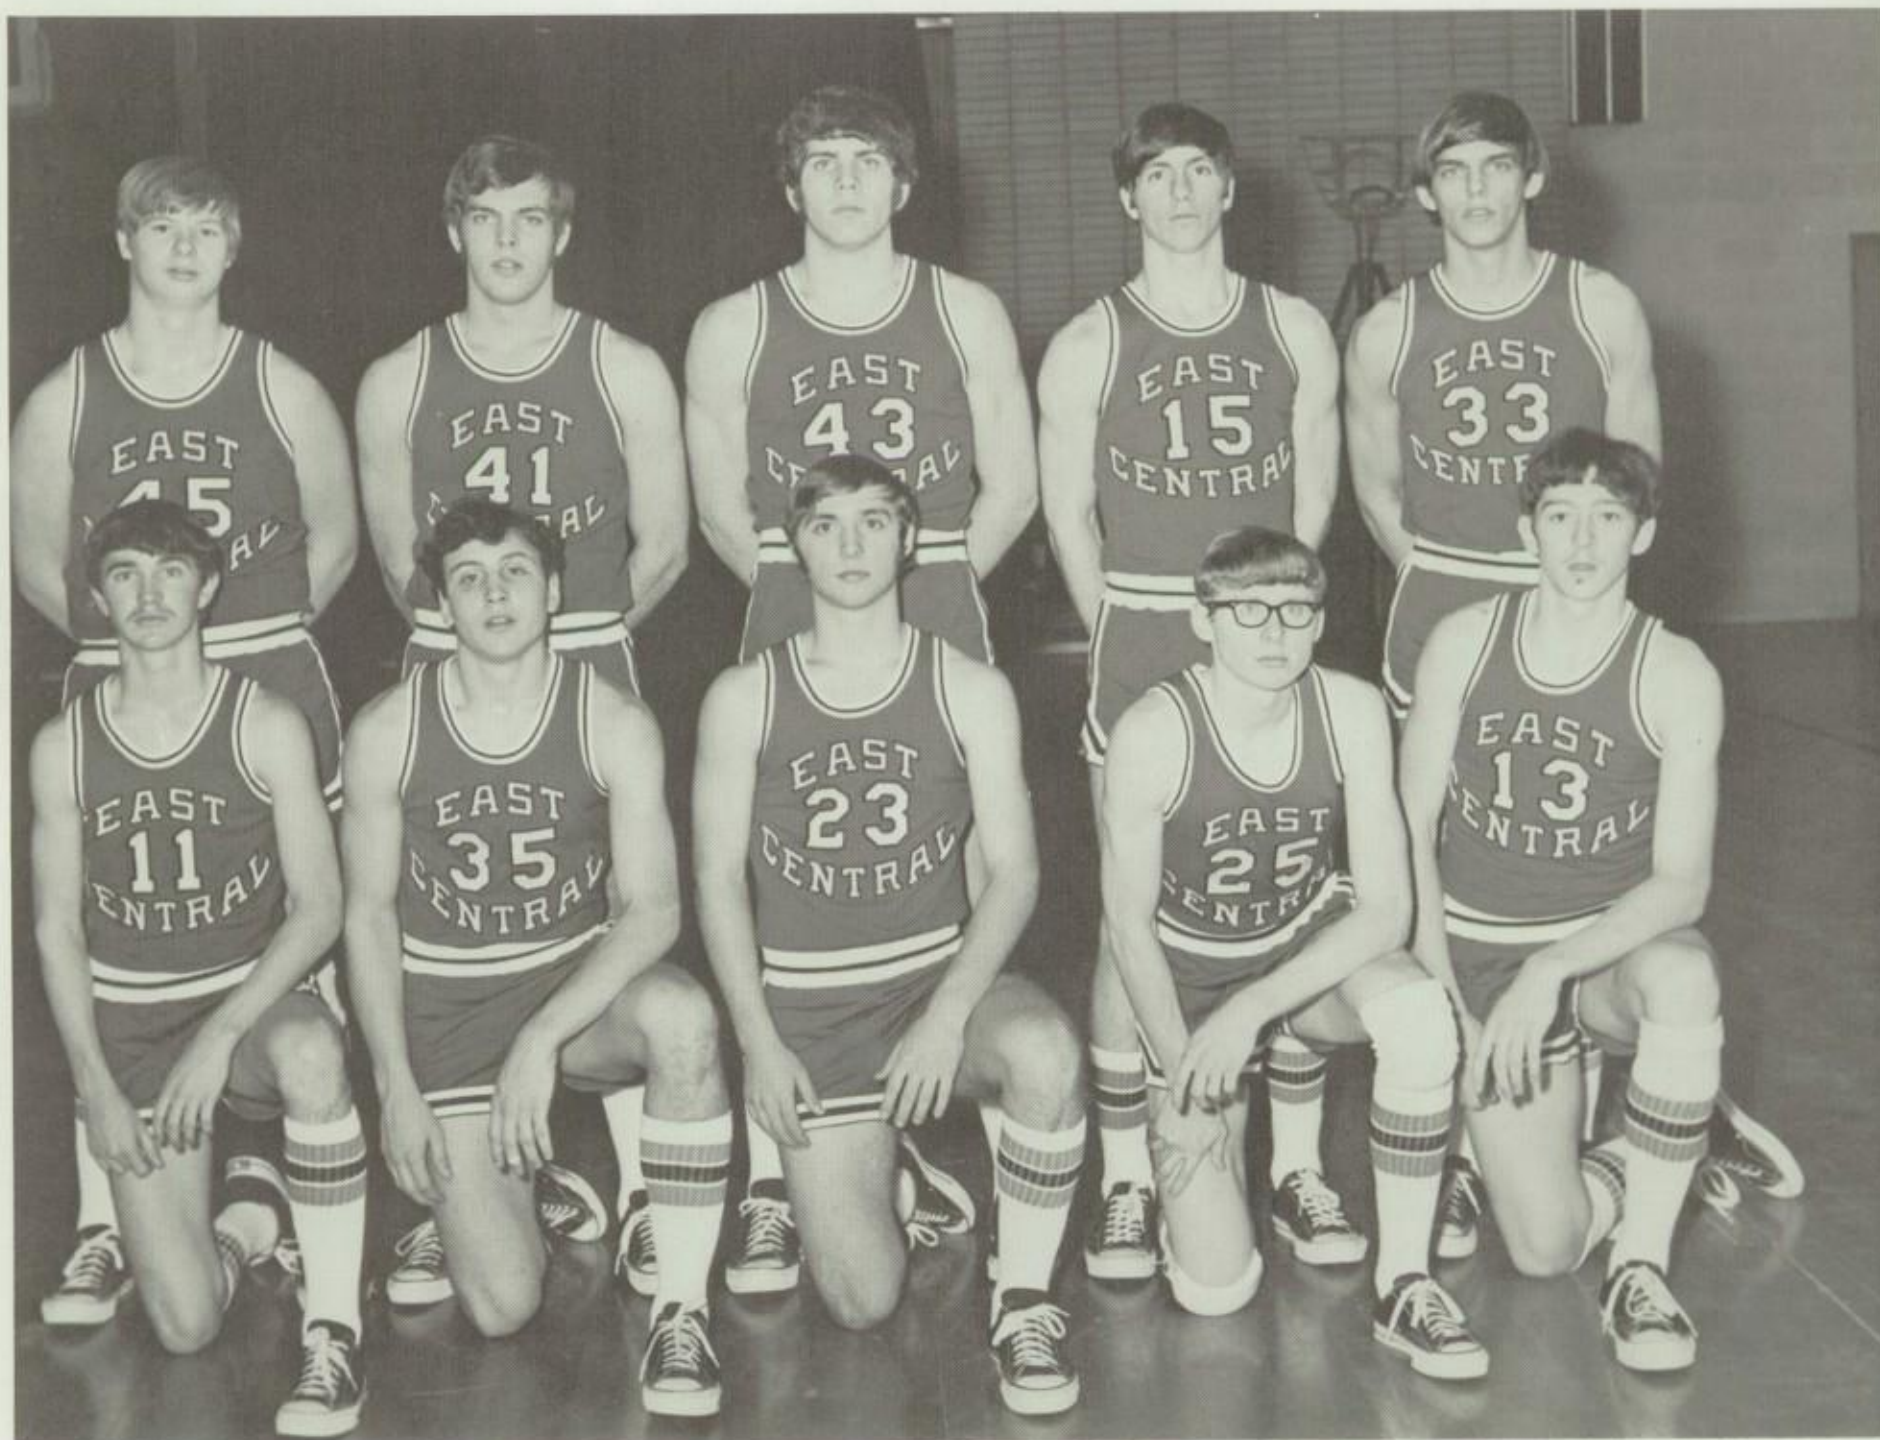

Exceptionally skillful players, under the direction of Coach John McKay completed the 1973-74 season with a record of 10-9. Highlighting the basketball record was a five game winning streak near the end of the season with victories over Jac-Cen-Del, Harrison, North Decatur, Dillsboro, and Lawrenceburg.

The team consisted of five seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore, and with only five seniors leaving the squad the future looks bright for next year's varsity. The spirit of the student body, shown throughout the season and sectional, together with the team should make a great future in basketball at E.C.H.S.

Consisting of both sophomores and juniors the reserve Trojans showed their ability of a highly spirited, winning ball team.

Frosh learn skills to use in the future

The freshman teams in their first year of high school ball finished with the A team 3 wins and 11 losses. The B team completed its year with 5 wins and 4 losses. Both teams were guided by Coach Benner who along with the team put in many hours of hard work and it took a lot of determination which these teams definitely had and showed throughout the season.

Cheerleaders and mascot promote the school spirit

Unending pep and energy was shown by each of the cheerleaders in this year's basketball season. Cheerleaders fill the gap between the players and spectators; by doing this they add a great deal of enthusiasm to the game.

They worked hard making posters, doing skits, and were very active at the pep sessions. For money making projects the cheerleaders chose to sell buttons at sectional time and also sold candy during the year.

The reserve and varsity squads both attended cheerleading camp in the summer where they learned many impressive and interesting things.

This year's mascot played a very vital role in creating vitality in the stands by giving the fans a boost in their cheering as he appeared on the floor between games. Just as a coach tries to build team spirit, the cheerleaders and mascot work hard at building school spirit which is a very important role in a successful and victorious season.

Track cross-country and golf individuals

The gun sounds and you're off. You now have a chance to apply all the training you have acquired in your past months of training. The desire to win is important in the success of a runner, as well as any athlete. This desire was shown by all East Central athletes and all sports records show this.

Winning the first conference title in the history of East Central was the accomplishment of the cross-country team. Three East Central runners were in the top ten finishers in the Eastern Indiana Athletic Conference to earn spots on the all-conference team. Doug Sykes ran the two and one-half mile in 14:01 to finish in second place in the conference meet. The track team had a fine season and Mark Dunevant, a very ambitious and hard working runner, had the opportunity to represent East Central in the state track competition. In which he did a great job in participating in the meet.

The golf team had a very impressive season which was a great honor for the school. The team did their practicing at Carolina Trace Golf Course, where the boys worked very hard in learning the rules of golf.

Honors given at banquet for all sports

On May 14, 1974 at 6:30 E.S.T. the first Athletic Banquet of East Central High School was held. Mr. LeVon Winters, Principal made the introductions followed by a prayer led by Eron Smith. The presentation of awards to girls was made first then cross country, football, basketball, track, golf and finally baseball awards were given.

The athletes that receive awards spend many hours practicing for success and striving to receive these awards. Although the teams as a whole may not be successful in their season these individuals certainly are.

Students enjoy Sunshine and Spanish Club

The purpose of the Spanish Club is to further the understanding of the language and customs of Spanish-speaking countries.

One of the highlights of the year was a trip to El Rancho Rankin, a Mexican restaurant. They enjoyed a meal of tortillas, tacos, enchiladas, tamales and hot peppers.

At Lafayette, Indiana, the club visited an exhibition of Spanish and Portuguese foods, and arts, crafts, etc. They all enjoyed the singing Spanish Minstrels, dressed in their native Spanish clothes.

The members of the club would like to express their appreciation to Miss

Susan Bock, the sponsor of the club, for her time and effort in making this a successful and enjoyable year.

Snaps

Dear Readers,

It is now the closing of the first year of East Central High School, when not only the work, fun, and construction are over, but also the activities of the 1973-74 school year.

This year was one of great challenge to everyone with the uniting of North Dearborn and Sunman schools.

With this first volume of the Shield we hope to have captured the memories and events of this year, and it is with great pride and achievement that we share it with you.

I would like to sincerely thank my assistant, Tammy Swales, the staff, and our very helpful sponsor, Mr. McKinney. The dedicated co-operation of these people helped to make the publishing of this Shield very enjoyable and we wish the best of luck to next years yearbook staff.
